About the instructor Alex Gilbert

For the past 10 years, Alex Gilbert has worked closely with the California Community College (CCC) system, helping to support students as they pursue their academic and vocational goals. Alex started first as a paraprofessional tutor for the E.O.P.S department at Rio Hondo College before moving on to receive a Master's degree in English from California State University, Long Beach. While in the M.A. program, Alex also worked full-time as program support for the School of Education at Biola University. Returning to the community colleges, Alex received a Faculty Diversity Internship with Glendale College which launched a career in teaching and faculty development. Moving to Mt. San Jacinto college in 2016, Alex served as the Educational Project Coordinator for the @ONE CCC grant, helping to train faculty in best practices for Distance Education. As of 2016, Alex has worked as an English Associate Faculty member for Riverside City College and Glendale College. Alex and her family live in Riverside, CA, and enjoy reading and the outdoors.
